

Student Name _____

NOTE TO STUDENT: This list of books is a compilation of recommended literature reading for the Classical student. These are books that you will not read as part of your course requirements at CCA, but are recommended to broaden your knowledge and literature base. We have purposefully left off Classical literature that we intend to study at school, so that selections at school will be new and exciting for you. As a long-term reading challenge, reading through 50 of these books before middle school would be an awesome accomplishment. Start by checking off the books you've already read, and then start logging additional books you read. Plan to use this resource for many years.

NOTE TO PARENTS: When selecting books for your child; age, experiences, and maturity should be considered. Not all content is appropriate for every single child. This list has been compiled from a variety of sources. Not all of these books have been pre-read by CCA staff, so parents should research as appropriate. Just Google the book title and read the summary. Better yet, read the book yourself and expand your knowledge.
